Sun Pharma's Q2FY13 core performance was in line with the estimates, while reported performance was impacted by one-time provision related to Protonix litigation. Top-line growth was led by US business and emerging markets exports. The performance was partly boosted by supplies of exclusivity product Lipodox to US which may not recur in future. At the current price (Adjusted for DCF of FTF opportunities), the stock trades at 26.1x FY13E and 23x FY14E earnings. We maintain 'Accumulate' with target price of Rs735.

- Core top-line growth boosted by US and emerging markets exports: Sun Pharma's core top-line is estimated to have grown by 36% YoY to Rs24.3bn. The growth was led by US businesses and emerging markets exports which grew by 66% and 45%, respectively. Domestic formulation business reported slightly muted growth of 15% YoY.
- Adjusted PAT grew by 44% boosted by forex gains: The company is estimated to have reported 42.5% YoY growth in core EBITDA to Rs10.2bn in line with estimates. There is an improvement in core business margins. Adjusted PAT grew by 44.5% YoY to Rs7.9bn, partially boosted by forex gains. Reported PAT stood at Rs3.2bn impacted by Rs5.8bn provisioning for litigation on Protonix.
- Valuation and View: Sun Pharma continues to deliver superior performance led by all the business segments. The company has strong balance-sheet to support inorganic growth initiatives. A superior business franchise in US and India are likely to deliver sustained value to the shareholders. However, we believe that all the positives are reflected in the current price. At current price, the stock trades at 26.1x FY13 and 23x FY14. We maintain 'Accumulate' with target price of Rs735. We believe that the shareholders approval to Taro's open offer remains the next big trigger for the company.
